

RELIGIONE E SECULARISMO NELL'ERA GLOBALE

Società, Democrazia e Politica Estera

Religione e Secolarismo nell'Era Globale: Società, Democrazia e Politica Estera.

Pontificia Università Gregoriana, 1 Marzo 2013

Con la conclusione del Ministero Petrino di Papa Benedetto XVI, la sera del 28 Febbraio 2013, il Cardinale Gianfranco Ravasi è decaduto dalla carica di Presidente del Pontificio Consiglio della Cultura.

Tuttavia, l'ordinaria amministrazione del Dicastero è normalmente continuata e, infatti, l'indomani mattina 1 Marzo, si è tenuta la conferenza "Religione e Secolarismo nell'Era Globale: Società, Democrazia e Politica Estera", organizzata dalla Tony Blair Faith Foundation.

La conferenza, già pianificata da tempo, si è tenuta nella Pontificia Università Gregoriana l'1 Marzo, con il supporto dell'Ambasciata Inglese presso la Santa Sede, la collaborazione dell'American University of Rome e del Pontificio Consiglio della Cultura con il suo Cortile dei Gentili.

Clicca qui per saperne di più

I RELATORI

Speakers' Biographies

 Gregor Gresham is a senior fellow at the Center for Strategic Studies at the American Enterprise Institute. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Religious Wars" and "The New Crusades".	 John L. Esposito is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies at Georgetown University. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The Islamic Threat to Democracy" and "The New Crusades".
 Robert D. Woodberry is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".	 David Mervin is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".
 Robert D. Woodberry is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".	 David Mervin is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".
 Robert D. Woodberry is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".	 David Mervin is the Distinguished University Professor and Director of the Center for the Study of Global Christianity at Fuller Theological Seminary. He is also a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department and a frequent commentator on religious freedom and international relations. He has authored several books, including "The New Crusades" and "The New Religious Wars".

PRESENTAZIONE

APPROFONDIMENTO

A variety of follow up to the meeting is planned and is in the capable hands of the main organisers The Tony Blair Faith Foundation, including an eventual publication of the Acts.

For now we make available here:

The Blog Posting of the British Ambassador to the Holy See, Mr Nigel Baker

